Say there's nothing to do in downtown... we dare you...

Energized by our own experiences and the belief that downtown Dayton has more to offer UD students than realized, the Dayton Civic Scholars have created “Beyond Brown: A Student Guide to Downtown Dayton.” This user friendly guide puts downtown at your fingertips—transportation and pricing, restaurants, entertainment, culture, parks and recreation, shopping, and seasonal events—it’s all there, just Beyond Brown.

And who are the Dayton Civic Scholars?

As part of the Fitz Center for Leadership in Community, the purpose of the Dayton Civic Scholars is to shape a “Social Science Excellence” identity within the social science disciplines by creating an intentional pathway from the classroom to community leadership and public service.

Notice

This informational book is the work of University of Dayton students who are members of the Dayton Civic Scholars, class of 2008. All reviews, information, and pictures are the work of students, unless otherwise noted. Cold Beer & Cheeseburgers

937.222.2337

This restaurant and bar has more to offer than its title states. It has the feel of a sports bar with the typical menu consisting of burgers, fries, chili, and wings—to name a few items. TVs are mounted on the walls around the large dining tables, while the other side of the bar has an iTunes jukebox, a few arcade games, a pool table, and a karaoke stage. “After-work karaoke” takes place from 5–9pm on Fridays; Tuesdays have a drink special of $2 margaritas or Coronas. This is a casual and inexpensive place to stop during a day downtown, or would be an attractive venue for a social event for a campus group.

The Dublin Pub

937.224.7822

The Dublin Pub is the most authentic Irish pub in the Miami Valley and a great place to go for a hearty Irish meal, live music, and a professionally poured Guinness! Check the website for the upcoming music schedule. Some pointers for first-timers: as an authentic Irish bar, the Dublin Pub is open seating (no one seats you and there are no reservations), so get there early for dinner on a Friday or Saturday. Service is prompt and helpful. Portions are big and Irish food is heavy, so come hungry!

Spaghetti Warehouse

937.461.3913

This traditional Italian restaurant is a great place to take your friends and family when they come to town. Serving all your favorite pasta dishes made from scratch, be sure to try the Chicken Parmigiana or the Incredible 15 Layer Lasagne. And try not to fill up on the bottomless salad or soup so you can enjoy some of the Warehouse Tiramisu.

Thai 9

937.222.3227

Known for its wide selection of delicious Thai food, sushi, and extensive drinks, this is a great place to catch dinner if you are going somewhere downtown or just want to get off of campus with family, for a date or a nice roommate night out. You can pick from a scale from 1–9 to choose how spicy you want your food to be. Prices are reasonable for the quality of food (about $10–15 per plate) and with two stories inside and a balcony outside for seating, it is usually not too crowded. On the weekends, however, we recommend making a reservation.

Therapy Café features $5 martinis between 4pm–8pm on weekdays and all day on Wednesdays.

Dayton Dragons

937.228.BATS

Located downtown at Fifth Third Field is Dayton’s premier Class A baseball team, the Dayton Dragons. Fifth Third Field has two-deck seating and lawn seats in the outfield, and is considered the best Class A stadium in the country. Dragons games are an excellent (and cheaper) alternative to driving all the way to Cincinnati to watch some great baseball. The Dragons have sent many notable players to the major leagues, including Adam Dunn, Edwin Encarnacion, and Austin Kearns but the baseball is just as good as ever. So far, the Dragons have sold out every game since the franchise opened in 2000 so grab your tickets fast!

Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park

937.225.7705

If you have taken a while to notice that UD's mascot, the Flyers, is somehow connected to the Wright Brothers and their discovery of flight here in Dayton, then you need to visit the Wright-Dunbar Interpretative Center. Get a funny Facebook picture sitting in an ejection seat or learn about how an airplane really works. At Wright-Dunbar Interpretative Center you also learn about a famous friend of the Wright Brothers—poet Paul Lawrence Dunbar. Dunbar's poetry on the American and African-American experience is timeless. Tours of the Wright Bicycle Shop and Paul Lawrence Dunbar's home are available.

Urban Nights

937.224.1518

Stylish urban living tours, visual arts displays, live entertainment, and great deals at restaurants and retailers make Urban Nights anything but your ordinary night out downtown. This free one-night downtown excursion will spotlight more than 80 businesses and organizations, plus the Artists of Front Street, the Oregon District and the Wright-Dunbar Business Village. Be sure to check out the Taste of the Miami Valley Restaurant Association. You can begin your downtown adventure by picking up an event map and discount card at the information table on Courthouse Square at Third and Main Streets, or at any participating venue. Many of the highlighted destinations are just a short distance from one another. Thus, although free trolleys will be available to help you reach these venues, the best way to see the majority of the venues and performances during Urban Nights is to walk, so remember to wear your walking shoes!

DELIVERING VALUE!

The Greater Dayton RTA is here to help Dayton residents and visitors get around town—from conventions and business meetings to shopping and entertainment. And while you are visiting downtown Dayton, stop by the RTA Wright Stop Plaza at Third and Main streets to grab a cup of coffee or a bite to eat. It's all Wright here! So, if you have a trip to Dayton planned or just want to journey around town, call the RTA RideLine at (937) 226-1144 and let us take you there.
