DECEMBER 9TH
6-9PM

JOIN STUDENTS from multiple disciplines at the University of Dayton as we showcase art and instigate conversation around the term Desert. Whether designating geographies, economies, or existential theories, deserts often connote emptiness and loss. Our various interpretations of this word include a practical focus on food deserts in Dayton Ohio. Come experience creativity in action and learn ways you can help end food insecurity in our region.

PARTICIPATE IN OUR SILENT ART AUCTION

BRING A CANNED GOOD THAT CAN BE EXCHANGED FOR A UNIQUE PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTWORK

ALL PROCEEDS AND DONATIONS GO TO THE DAYTON FOODBANK

For more information or to book a seat at the desert kitchen collective table for a dining experience, CONTACT ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GLENN JENNINGS: GJENNINGS1@UDAYTON.EDU
TALES FROM THE FRONT LINES OF ART AND SOCIAL PRACTICES AND POST-PHOTOJOURNALISTIC PROCESSES

@Index, A University of Dayton Project Space
Front Street Warehouse Buildings
1001 E. 2nd Street
Dayton, OH 45402
Building 100
Door B-C
2nd Floor

JOIN STUDENTS from multiple disciplines at the University of Dayton as we showcase art and instigate conversation around the term Desert. Whether designating geographies, economies, or existential theories, deserts often connote emptiness and loss. Our multiple interpretations of this word include a practical focus on food deserts in Dayton Ohio. Come experience creativity in action and learn ways you can help end food insecurity in our region.

PARTICIPATE IN OUR SILENT ART AUCTION

BRING A CANNED GOOD THAT CAN BE EXchanged FOR A UNIQUE PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTWORK

For more information or to book a seat at the desert kitchen collective table for a dining experience, CONTACT ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GLENNNA JENNINGS: GJENNINGS1@UDAYTON.EDU

ALL PROCEEDS AND DONATIONS GO TO THE DAYTON FOODBANK
JOIN STUDENTS from multiple disciplines at the University of Dayton as we showcase art and instigate conversation around the term Desert. Whether designating geographies, economies, or existential theories, deserts often connote emptiness and loss. Our multiple interpretations of this word include a practical focus on food deserts in Dayton, Ohio. Come experience creativity in action and learn ways you can help end food insecurity in our region.

TALES FROM THE FRONT LINES OF ART AND SOCIAL PRACTICES AND POST-PHOTOJOURNALISTIC PROCESSES

UNIVERSITY of DAYTON

DECEMBER 9TH 6-9PM

PARTICIPATE IN OUR SILENT ART AUCTION!

BRING A CANNED GOOD THAT CAN BE EXCHANGED FOR A UNIQUE PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTWORK!

ALL PROCEEDS AND DONATIONS GO TO THE DAYTON FOODBANK

For more information or to book a seat at the desert kitchen collective table for a dining experience, CONTACT ASSISTANT PROFESSOR GLENN JENNINGS: GJENNINGS1@UDAYTON.EDU

DAYTON DESERT CHRONICLES