

A-ten-hut!

"You're young only once, but you can be immature forever."

Band Alumni weekend Oct. 3, 4, and 5

Another wild weekend is planned for 2008 as we commemorate the 30th anniversary of the movie "Animal House"! While we won't be wearing togas on the field (unless you really want to), we will be playing selected tunes from the 1978 hit movie. The bigger and better Pride of Dayton will again be joining us on the field for pre-game and halftime. We have warned Dean Wermer. Contact Mark Buchwalder (bikewalder@yahoo.com) to borrow an instrument!

Friday night's 7 p.m. gathering will be at 1635 Brown St., the same location as last year's and this year's post-game gathering. Rooms are available at his location for Friday and Saturday night. Contact Marie Glaser ASAP for overnight reservations: mjgmgm@yahoo.com

Saturday morning practice, a tailgate lunch with the POD and a post-game gathering fill out the day. See website for exact times. Sunday's golf outing at Kittyhawk Golf Course ends the weekend activities. Contact John White for golf reservations.

Fairborn Recovering From Recent Alumni Visit

Despite heavy rain, we again stunned the crowds during the Fairborn July 4th parade. We've been hearing for years that our performances are "all wet." We hope to see you there next summer!

Stewart Street Bridge Closed

The Stewart Street bridge across the Great Miami River, near the University of Dayton Arena and Carillon Park, has closed for approximately 18 months due to construction.

Traffic is rerouted north to the new Washington Street bridge and to U.S. 35.

When construction is complete, the new Stewart Street bridge will be wider, with four westbound lanes, instead of the current two lanes, at the intersection of Stewart Street and Edwin C. Moses Boulevard.

Stewart Street Bridge Facts

- The current bridge was built in 1912.
- Approximately 16,000 vehicles per day cross the bridge.
- Construction begins June 23, 2008.
- The new bridge is expected to open December 1, 2009.
- Construction costs are projected to be approximately $15.2 million.
