

POURING TEA

Black Gay Men of the South Tell Their Tales

University of Dayton Theatre Program presents a solo staged reading by award-winning Dr. E. Patrick Johnson.

“Johnson ... manages to vividly evoke the presence of seven individuals. The enactment of their stories of growing up black and gay in the South ... constitutes a profound critique of racism, sexism and homophobia in our culture. Their stories are painful, poignant, funny and triumphant.”*

April 21, 8 p.m.
Black Box Theatre
Raymond L. Fitz Hall, Room 155

For ticket information, please call the Kennedy Union Box Office at 937-229-2545 or visit tickets.udayton.edu.

*Excerpt of a review by Cheryl Black, professor, Department of Theatre, University of Missouri, in “Thrice-Told Tales: Pouring Tea as Performance Ethnography,” Storytelling, Self, Society: An Interdisciplinary Journal of Storytelling Studies, Volume 8, Issue 1, 2012.

University of Dayton Theatre Program

UNIVERSITY of DAYTON