

REMEMBERING THE FORGOTTEN

Iraq, Violence, Memory: An Iraqi voice on the war.

The Iraq War is considered over, but what has happened to those who were impacted the most? Sinan Antoon addresses the devastating effects war has had on Iraq and Iraqis while examining Iraqi poetry and artists whose works grapple with violence and memory.

Sponsored by the Alumni Chair
in Humanities.

University of Dayton
Jesse Philips Humanities Center
Sears Recital Hall

April 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Antoon is an associate professor at the New York University Gallatin School of Individualized Study and an Arabic poet, novelist and translator.

The event is free and open to the public.

go.udayton.edu/alumnichair