

Megan Smith Bio

Megan Smith is founder/publisher/editor of CAKE&WHISKEY; the Sweet & Spirited World of Business magazine. Prior to CAKE&WHISKEY, Megan was a freelance writer, a blogger with over 50,000 readers monthly, and a magazine columnist. She has owned three successful companies and still occasionally writes for other national publications including a piece for the Huffington Post garnered over 19,000 “likes” in two days.

Megan’s love of business and her disappointment with the currently available business publications in the marketplace led her to launch CAKE&WHISKEY magazine without any initial investment money, contacts or leads. She has grown the brand to an international level in a little over two years on loads of ingenuity, creativity and massive gumption.

Megan is the mom of three young boys. She plays an OK game of tennis, thinks a perfect day should include a car ride on country roads in hopes of finding a great farm auction and greasy-spoon diner.
