

2012 EMERGING LEADER CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

“The single biggest way to impact an organization is to focus on leadership development. There is almost no limit to the potential of an organization that recruits good people, raises them up as leaders and continually develops them..”
- John C. Maxwell

The Leadership Certificate program for Emerging Leaders is a twenty day leadership development program ideal for top performing leaders with 10 or more years of experience and an advanced degree, or combined work experience. This year-long leadership and business skills development program is for high potential future executives in public, private and not-for-profit organizations. In addition to high quality leadership and business skills training, participating leaders will also benefit from:

- ✓ Exposure to local, regional and national thought leaders
- ✓ Networking with other Emerging Leaders
- ✓ Multiple assessments, including a comprehensive 360
- ✓ Feedback and individual executive coaching

The University of Dayton — stands as a leader in higher education and one of the preeminent research universities in the nation. It's the largest private university in Ohio. The University of Dayton ranks #1 in International Student satisfaction in the state with students representing 90 countries.

At the undergraduate level, we offer more than 70 high-quality degree programs. We provide premiere graduate programs at both the master's and doctoral levels. This is a university on the move with a deep commitment to academic excellence.

ABOUT CLED

WHO WE ARE

The University of Dayton, Center for Leadership & Executive Development (CLED) is a unique partnership between corporate, government and not for profit organizations in the Dayton, Ohio Region and top thought leaders in management and executive education worldwide.

We provide programs and services that address the needs of organizations by developing more effective leaders – strategic leaders who can build a successful future.

WHAT WE DO

The CLED grows stronger businesses and communities by developing our leaders. We're delivering a value-based leadership development system designed to enable the personal and professional growth of individuals in leadership roles.

The greatest achievements are derived from individuals who are inspired, empowered and prepared to do great things. Great communities are created by great leaders; so our leaders of tomorrow must start preparing today.

HOW WE DO IT

Through partnerships and open enrollment, we make it possible for all existing and future leaders to get engaged and take advantage of the programs and benefits we have to offer.

By partnering with top universities, area businesses and professionals, we are able to apply practical, fundamental, end-to-end training at every level of organizational leadership, while maintaining corporate culture and promoting an environment where people are valued first.

2012 EMERGING LEADER CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

You will be frustrated. You will be uncomfortable. You will be challenged. You will learn about yourself. You will love it. The University of Dayton has gathered a diverse group of local and national personalities who are experts in different parts of the leadership equation. These experts provide real world examples of what makes a successful leader and why. With the help of my mentor, I have been astounded to look at the recent past to discover that "I led my team to accomplish all of this?" The University of Dayton's Emerging Leader program is run by professionals who really do care about your success.

Stewart Campbell, Director of Manufacturing Engineering & Facilities, GE Aviation

"The University of Dayton Emerging Leader Program is a well organized and presented approach to integrating a comprehensive teaching of business fundamentals with personal management strategies that allow the participant to more effectively lead others. The course structure, notable lecturers, and a superb venue combine to make a memorable experience for the students as they progress toward their leadership goals. I have attended many leadership courses over the years and found the University of Dayton's ELP to be second to none. The group projects, classroom exercises, self-assessments and the personal friendships forged through the year have made the program very worthy and unforgettable. Well done UD, you've succeeded at enabling another group of leaders."

Keith Bowman, Air Mobility Deputy Capability Lead, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Emerging Leader '10-11

I found the Emerging Leader program to be a most valuable opportunity, both personally and professionally. We had the privilege of hearing from some dynamic leaders, being formally mentored and supported by leaders in our organization that we greatly respect and admire, and interacting and building relationships with other Dayton Community Leaders. The Emerging Leader program inspired me to learn and improve, and to develop habits and more effective ways to be successful. The Emerging Leader program encouraged all of us to continually assess our character, behaviors and personal values and align our behaviors with our values.

Darlene Holder, Director of Parking Services, University of Dayton

What I have really enjoyed about the Emerging Leader program is the fact that all the classes have been fast paced and extremely relevant for leaders of today. The instructors have all been first class with their content and delivery. I would recommend this program to all leaders looking for an edge.

Jim Richmond, Area Services Director, Reynolds & Reynolds
