

EDUCATIONAL TRAVEL

A Taste of Italy: September 18 – 30, 2013

Program hosts: Patricia Dolan, Professor of Nutrition, retired, University of Dayton
Andria Chiodo, Professor Emerita of Italian, University of Dayton

Join us as we travel from the North to the South to enjoy the wonderful sites and flavors of Italy!

Turin

Florence

Sorrento

September 18 – 21

Turin (an elegant city surrounded by the Alps and home of the famous slow-food movement)

Our stay will include a visit to the important monuments of Italy's first capital as well as a trip into the nearby countryside for a wine and truffle tour.

September 22 – 25

Florence (the capital of Tuscany and birthplace of the Italian Renaissance)

In addition to seeing Michelangelo's David and Medici tombs and visiting some of the early Florentine churches with their marvelous artwork, we will have the opportunity to don a chef's hat for a cooking class to learn about Tuscan cuisine.

September 26 - 30

Sorrento (a Mediterranean jewel in the province of Naples known for its produce, seafood, and pizza.)

During our stay we will have the chance to see how mozzarella and gelato are made, to harvest vegetables for our cooking class at the Fattoria Terranova, and to visit nearby Pompeii.

There will be unscheduled time in each city to give participants ample opportunity to explore, shop, or perhaps just sit in a cafe to relax and enjoy the sights.

Price includes accommodations with breakfast in centrally located hotels in each city; travel by motor coach between cities ; group tours, cooking classes, and museum visits; dinner on arrival in each city, 4 lunches, and a farewell dinner; cultural information provided by your program hosts as well as guides on site.
