COMMEMORATIVE SPEAKER: NIKOLE HANNAH-JONES

7:00 p.m. | KU Ballroom

Annual Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Speaker Nikole Hannah-Jones is a National Magazine Award winning journalist and 2017 MacArthur Fellow, writing on modern day civil rights for The New York Times Magazine. Her widely read articles on segregated housing and schools, as well as her deeply personal reports on the black experience in America, expose how racial inequality is maintained through official policy. They also offer a compelling case for greater equity. She has written extensively on topics such as the history of racism and inequality, school re-segregation and the disarray of hundreds of desegregation orders and the decades-long failure of the federal government to enforce the landmark 1968 Fair Housing Act. She is currently writing a book about school segregation called The Problem We All Live With.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: IMBOLO MBUE
ENHANCING THE GLOBAL VILLAGE ON U.S.
COLLEGE CAMPUSES

7:00 p.m. | KU Ballroom

Imbolo Mbue is the author of Behold the Dreamers, a 2017 Oprah's Book Club pick and winner of the PEN/Faulkner Award for Fiction. At the intersection of Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's Americanah and the fiction of Amy Tan, Mbue's riveting debut novel follows two marriages—one immigrant and working class, the other from the top 1%—both chasing their version of the American Dream. Mbue's book is informed by her experience of being an African immigrant and the experiences of the many African immigrants that she knows. She grew up in Limbe, Cameroon before immigrating to the U.S. in 1998. She holds a B.S. from Rutgers University and an M.A. from Columbia University. She lives in New York City. A book signing immediately follows her talk.

FLUENT

8:00 p.m. | Black Box Theatre, Fitz Hall

At a time when the news has been replaced with reality TV and the less we understand each other, the louder we get, we are suddenly fluent in a language that doesn't say what we mean. In this era of alternative facts, when we seem to be talking more and saying less each day, highly acclaimed actor, playwright and spoken word artist Steve Connell takes an in-depth look at the world of this moment to figure out what matters when words no longer do. With private performances for luminaries like Oprah Winfrey and Maya Angelou and work seen everywhere from Sundance to the White House, from the Kennedy Center to the Public, you don't want to miss this one night only special event with our guest artist.

UNFINISHED

8:00 p.m. | Black Box Theatre, Fitz Hall

2:00 p.m. | Black Box Theatre, Fitz Hall

It is said that the job of the living is to carry on the unfinished work of the dead. It is clear that there is much for us to do. Pulling from both existing material and original work created within Steve Connell's guest artist residency, Unfinished will examine what it means to be alive right now and explore what the world demands from us all. In partnership with Theatre, Dance and Performance Technology, the Human Rights Center and the Human Rights Studies Program, Steve Connell will bring this challenging and inspiring material to life in new and imaginative ways. Borrowing heavily from spoken word, hip hop, comedy and traditional theater, this is a highly entertaining evening that speaks to the importance and beauty of the human voice being raised, be it in song, celebration or protest.

SATURDAY

February 24

CRIMINAL JUSTICE PLUNGE

12:00 p.m.–7:00 p.m. | Off-Campus

"We are not yet free. We have merely achieved the freedom to be free, the right not to be oppressed. We have not taken the final step on our journey, but the first step on a longer and even more difficult road. For to be free is not merely to cast off one's chains, but to live in a way that respects and enhances the freedom of others."—Nelson Mandela

Join us on the Criminal Justice Plunge as we go into a jail and talk to inmates, learn about recidivism, the need for education/tutoring and explore places for ex-cons to go after they get out of prison and try to find work. Sign up at:

SPECTACLE

8:00 p.m. | KU Boll Theatre

2:00 p.m. | KU Boll Theatre

This world premiere original musical tells the story of the founding of the Marianists, featuring all the major players: Fr. William Joseph Chaminade, Marie-Thérèse de Lamourous and Mother Adèle de Batz de Trenquelléon. Set during and after the French Revolution, the show tells the story of Fr. Chaminade’s courage to do priestly ministry under persecution, Marie-Thérèse’s efforts to improve women’s lives and Adèle’s struggle in choosing religion over marriage, while all three collaborated to build communities of faith. The title reminds us of Fr. Chaminade’s call to all Marianists to be a “spectacle of saints.”

Co-produced by the Theatre, Dance and Performance Technology Program, the Department of Music, the Office of Mission and Rector, Campus Ministry, with a gift from John and Natalie Alberici

BUILDING THE BRIDGE: OUR SHARED JOURNEY

5:00 p.m.–6:15 p.m. | TBA

This journey group will explore the bridge between Catholic identity and LGBTQ+ identity by encouraging students to reflect on their lived experience and faith beliefs, using Fr. Jim Martin's book, Building a Bridge. The group is not intended to debate Church teaching but rather help individuals seek the intersection of the Catholic faith and LGBTQ+ identity through the exploration of our own stories and our shared stories of faith. It is open to LGBTQ+ undergraduate students, for friends and allies of LGBTQ+ individuals, as well as those interested in the topic. If you are interested please contact Mike Bennett or Kathleen Rossman.
