Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2015 to Aug 31, 2016

Description of Data:

Ohio's value-added data system provides information on student academic gains. Limitations of the Value-Added Data:

1. The information in the report is for those individuals receiving their licenses with effective years of, 2012, 2013, 2014, and 2015.
2. The value-added data in this report are those reported by Ohio's Education Value-Added Assessment System (EVAAS) based on reading and mathematics achievement tests in grades 4-8.
3. For Educator Preparation Providers with fewer than 10 linked teachers or principals with value-added data, only the number (N) is reported.

Excellence and Innovation Initiatives

Reporting Period from Sept 1, 2015 to Aug 31, 2016
(Data Source: University of Dayton)

Description of Data:

This section reflects self-reported information from Ohio Educator Preparation Providers on a maximum of three initiatives geared to increase excellence and support innovation in the preparation of Ohio educators.

Teacher Preparation Programs

Initiative:	Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages
Purpose:	Improve the skills of teachers to teach English Language Learners
Goal:	International Engagement
Number of Participants:	45
Strategy:	The Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) certificate is an interdisciplinary program which addresses the growing demand internationally, nationally, and locally for individuals trained in working with individuals who speak English as a second language. For teacher education students, the program provides a greater depth and breadth for working with English language learners in their grade-level and content-area classrooms. The program can be completed in three semesters and students can earn credit towards it in TESOL study abroad programs. Students in the program receive hands-on training via the opportunity to teach English language learners in the University of Dayton's Intensive English Program.
Demonstration of Impact:	Of the 2014-15 completers, 2 were international students returning to their country, and 4 responded to the post-graduation survey indicating they are employed in urban school districts or overseas as teachers. There were 10 students completing the TESOL Certificate in 2015-16.
External Recognition:	State-approved Certificate Program

Initiative:	Ohio Dean's Compact on Exceptional Children
Purpose:	To develop candidates that are better qualified to teach students with disabilities and other learning difficulties.
Goal:	To develop a program in which candidates earn middle childhood licensure with two focus areas and an intervention specialist mild/moderate grades K-12 certificate/licensure/endorsement.
Number of Participants:	30
Strategy:	The MC/IS program is approved by both the state and the university. First-time undergraduate students in the Middle Childhood program will complete dual licensure in Middle Childhood Education (4-9) and Intervention Specialist (K-12). During the 2015-16 grant year, participating Cooperating Teachers completed training with program faculty in Universal Design for Learning (UDL), Response to Intervention (RTI), co-teaching, technology, and the observational instrument for student teaching. Faculty conducted an inter-rater reliability study for the new student teaching instrument used in the program. The program aligns the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) standards into the Middle Childhood program, and created an ongoing resource center of artifacts, materials and modules to support this initiative.
External Recognition:	This program has been approved by ODHE as an initial licensure program.
Programs:	The University of Dayton's nationally-recognized Middle Childhood Education and Intervention Specialist Education programs

Initiative:	Dyslexia Certificate Program
Purpose:	To prepare teachers to be committed to the education of all children.

Goal:	To achieve knowledge and skills needed to work with children with Dyslexia.
Number of Participants:	276
Strategy:	Our undergraduate Early Childhood, Intervention Specialist, and Middle Childhood programs are approved by the International Dyslexia Association, as well as our graduate Reading Endorsement program. We also offer a Dyslexia Certificate program as an outgrowth of this approval. Undergraduates in the Early Childhood, Intervention Specialist, or Middle Childhood Education Programs at the University of Dayton can choose to also obtain the Dyslexia Certificate as part of their four year program. This has been approved at the State and Specialty Professional Organization levels. The program currently consists of 2 additional classes, with one field experience devoted working with students identified with Dyslexia. There are 276 Early Childhood, Intervention Specialist, and Middle Childhood candidates currently enrolled, and 118 completed programs in 2015-16. Principal Preparation Programs

Initiative:	Candidate Cohort Enhancement
Purpose:	Increase Candidate/Student Enrollment and Completion of the Excellent Principal Licensure Program at UD
Goal:	Provide convenience, flexibility, and explore restructuring/modifying additional delivery methods for selected courses
Number of Participants:	78
Strategy:	During the reporting period, the University of Dayton (UD) and the Department of Educational Administration (EDA) have continued to explore increasing numbers of students enrolled in our classes. Following EDA department conversations as well as surveys of potential students, numbers of potential candidates/students have been invited to multiple orientation meetings regarding participating in lifelong learning/additional graduate coursework that would be offered on or near the site of their schools/districts. The convenience and other benefits of joining and participating in a cohort are explained during the sessions and reinforced through a variety of methods of additional communications that follow each initial orientation session. For example, the newest cohorts will be exposed to a restructured format with selected online courses offered as hybrid or blended courses that will demonstrate better alignment with industry standards and Quality Matters guidelines while also responding to marketing survey results of potential candidates/students.
Demonstration of Impact:	Although cohorts are not scheduled to begin until 2017, 28 potential participants indicate that they are interested in the offerings of the University of Dayton's Department of Educational Administration.
