

2015-16 Annual Report

In our ongoing efforts to improve the counseling programs, information was solicited from current students, alumni, supervisors, and employers.

1. The results of the survey include:

Clinical Mental Health Counseling

- Dublin students felt disconnected from the University
- Identified a need for more information on the impact of trauma on mental health
- Mindfulness/ spirituality were desired to included more in the course of study

School Counseling

- Dublin students felt disconnected from the University
- Identified a need for more information on the impact of trauma on mental health

2. In response to the surveys, the following changes were made:

Clinical Mental Health Counseling

- Development of the program Isidore site to email directly to students by location
- Redesigning of the Human Development course to include significant information on trauma
- Development of a new elective course- Holistic Wellness

School Counseling

- Development of the program Isidore site to email directly to students by location
- Renovating of the Human Development course to include significant information on trauma

3. Other changes:

- Added staff at Dublin campus, effective August 2016- Debbie Miller joined the department in Dublin, working as a full-time administrative assistant