

Candidate Application 2017-2018

CULTIVATING AND ENCOURAGING OUR NONEXEMPT LEADER POTENTIAL!

The Office of Human Resources is excited to announce the start of the nomination process for UD Connections, our cohort-based, multisession program for full-time, nonexempt employees at the University of Dayton!

Although participation is not tied to promotion, pay raise or any other reward system, being selected for this program can:

- Lead to creation of greater institutional knowledge and commitment among nonexempt employees.
- Provide the cohort with a personal and professional development opportunity.
- Recognize the contribution of nonexempt employees and retain them as valuable supporters of the mission.
- Help build community within UD.
- Develop employees who are familiar with nonexempt professional concerns to serve on University committees.
- Enable the ability to knowledgeably represent UD in greater Dayton community.

MAKING THE COMMITMENT

As part of their commitment, supervisors or managers will:

- Allow and encourage participants to attend the sessions.
- Create opportunities for participants to use their knowledge and skills within and outside the department or unit.

As part of their commitment, participants will:

- Attend at least six out of seven of the programs outlined on the attached UD Connections calendar.
- Contribute thoughtfully to the session discussion.
- Adhere to the ground rules established for the program.

NOMINATION AND SELECTION OF PARTICIPANTS

Potential participants may be nominated by their supervisors or may self-nominate using the attached UD Connections candidate application. The number of participants is limited; selections will be made by the UD Connections committee in early August.

Please note: Bargaining unit employees will use the same application, but a different process will be used in their selection.
