UPHEAVAL

ArtStreet White Box Gallery

Opening Reception: Thursday, Jan. 21, 5:30 p.m.-6:30 p.m.

UPHEAVAL will look at a social and cultural climate that rises from the ashes of FEAR by localizing a future vision of change. By mirroring the University of Dayton's campus climate during the Vietnam Era (1965-1975) and tomorrow's campus climate (2016-2026), this highly-charged installation uses storytelling to establish a future campus that not only is influenced by our current national tensions, but can also learn from our past to innovate our future.

CAMPUS WIDE SYMPOSIUM "CRITICAL EXAMINATION OF OUR TIME: THE STATE OF RACE ON THE UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON'S CAMPUS

Opening Reception: Thursday, Jan. 21, 5:30 p.m.-6:30 p.m.

In light of growing national concern about racial discrimination and institutionalized injustice and the subsequent emergence of the Black Lives Matter movement, communities and institutions across the country are taking steps to engage in critical dialogue about challenges of racism in America. Given the University of Dayton's mission, the Africana Studies minor and organizing committee have designed this symposium to study the history of race relations at UD, to examine national trends and attitudes (especially among university students), and to outline ways in which the University can build a more inclusive campus community that is genuinely respectful and welcoming of every one of its members.

GREEN DOT TRAINING

10:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Varies by date

A green dot is anything you do to make our community safer. Green Dot training is an energetic and interactive afternoon that focuses on the power that each of us has to end violence at UD. As a group, we consider the warning signs to violence, the obstacles we must overcome to stop violence in front of us, and we practice doing green dots and stopping violence in it's tracks. We all have the power to keep our friends safe from sexual assault, stalking, and intimate partner violence. Green Dot training is an opportunity to practice and perfect the skills needed in order to do so. This free training includes lunch, a t-shirt, and Certificate of Completion. To participate or to learn more about Green Dot, please register for the training online at go.udayton.edu/greendot.

SEMESTER OF SERVICE

Semester of Service is a program in the Fitz Center for Leadership that offers students an in-depth semester long service experience with an opportunity to strengthen the Dayton community, build supportive relationships, and accomplish goals while discerning future paths of service and civic engagement. Semester of Service students also participate in a weekly 3-hour social justice community service internship mini-course (UDI 393) and have the opportunity to develop a coordinating independent study project if desired.

In choosing to take a semester away from classes, students participate in 450 hours of service in Dayton non-profit community centers, after school programs, and organizations addressing homelessness issues. While serving full-time (37-40 hours a week), students participate in a three hour mini-course each week addressing social justice issues that are encountered while serving in the Dayton community. Recruitment for the program occurs during the term prior to a student's full-time Semester of Service.
