

The 2016 Gilvary Symposium

The Honorable James J. Gilvary
Symposium on Law, Religion and Social Justice

In cooperation with the Dayton
Literary Peace Prize Foundation

Friday, Nov. 18, 2016
9 a.m.–3:15 p.m.
Mathias H. Heck Courtroom
Joseph E. Keller Hall

JUSTICE ON TRIAL

■ STORIES OF
■ RACE & LAW.

The University of Dayton School of Law in conjunction with the Dayton Literary Peace Prize Association invites you to attend the 2016 Gilvary Symposium. International experts will explore the multi-faceted issues surrounding the timely subject of race relations, the law and the justice system.

FEATURED SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

- Gilbert King, noted photographer and Pulitzer Prize-winning author of Devil in the Grove about Thurgood Marshall
- Wil Haygood, journalist and author whose book was the inspiration for the 2013 film The Butler
- Mark Godsey, Daniel P. and Judith L. Carmichael Professor of Law and Director, Lois and Richard Rosenthal Institute for Justice/Ohio Innocence Project at the University of Cincinnati School of Law
- Ricky Jackson, exonerated death row inmate who spent 39 years behind bars

The symposium is free, but you must register to attend.
$15 plated lunch.
CLE credits are available.

For more information, special accommodations or to register, visit go.udayton.edu/gilvary or contact Nan Holler-Potter at lawevents@udayton.edu or call 937-229-4676.