The resources described in this guide can help you learn more about yourself as a learner, develop or strengthen the skills you will need as you encounter more and more complex material, and make choices that are appropriate for yourself in any learning setting.

Academic Coaching

The Office of Learning Resources professional staff are happy to meet with you to discuss academic goals and current course progress, to help motivate you toward success, and to provide information about a variety of study skills. Our professional staff are available to meet with you in single or multiple sessions if requested.

Learning Courses

Knowledge is not transferred, it is formed. We know that learning how to learn is a skill and a science. We offer many programs that seek to sharpen this skill by helping students discover more about themselves, their individual style of learning, the various methods that work best, and the thrill of knowing that they can learn how to learn almost anything. ### DEV 055: Academic Renewal Course & Coaching (ARCC) Program

The Academic Renewal Course & Coaching (ARCC) program is a seven-week, 1-credit hour learning course that gives students the opportunity to increase their capacity to become mindful learners. Mindful learners attend to three areas of personal development: awareness, aptitude, and action. Students will answer, “How do you identify as a learner? How can you achieve personal and academic success in UD’s learning community?” Any student interested in becoming a more mindful learner is encouraged to enroll. Additionally, students on academic probation who have a GPA of 1.69 or below are encouraged and welcome to enroll.

Students will attend a minimum of five coaching sessions throughout the course of the semester. Through academic coaching and our course design, student’s areas of strength and challenge emerge. Coaching encourages and guides students 1-on-1 to reaching their full potential.

UDI 149: Learning Connections

In this two (2) credit course, international students explore the relationship between the research on learning, neuroscience, and their experiences of and needs in learning. The course requires students to make connections between the content of this course and their past and present learning experiences. The goal of the course is to further develop approaches to studying and enhance all of their learning experiences in American college classes.

UDI 175: The Art & Science of Learning

This course is designed to engage students in discussion and activities that will enhance their learning and study skills. Students will explore the intersection of research in neuroscience, psychology, and educational psychology with their own experiences of and needs in learning. The course will ask students to synthesize what they’re learning from their UD experiences in classes, residence halls, and co-curricular activities with what they’re learning about themselves in this class. The goal of the course is to teach students meta-cognition skills that will help them become successful in college. The credit hours for this course apply toward the student’s total credit hours for graduation.

Global Learning Support

Take advantage of the many ways you can learn from and with people different from yourself! The Office of Learning Resources offers a wide variety of services to help everyone become successful learners in American classrooms. Explore our web site, attend one of our global learning support sessions for international and American students, or contact our office and meet with a staff member.

INTERNATIONAL PEER ACADEMIC COACHING

International Peer Academic Coaches (IPACs) are available to meet and discuss success in American classrooms, transitioning to a different culture, networking with campus resources, and sharing professional experiences. IPACs from India, Asia, and the Middle East are available by request. Request an IPAC >>

GLOBAL PARTNER PROGRAM

You don't have to travel across the world to learn about different cultures and languages. The University of Dayton has a rich and diverse international population of students, staff, and faculty. Partner up with us to experience international holidays, celebrations, and food. This program collaborates with the International Peer Mentor program.

- Interested in making International/American friends?
- Interested in learning different cultures/languages?
- Interested in getting involved in the UD global community?

Become a Global Partner >>

INTERNATIONAL PEER MENTOR PROGRAM

Discuss success in American classrooms, transitioning to a different culture, and networking with campus resources, and share experiences.

- Want someone from the same country, speaking the same language, probably studying similar classes to help you when you are new on campus?
- Willing to help new international students and get involved?

If you answered yes to either of these questions, we want you as an International Peer Mentor! Join us for shopping trips, cultural programs and celebrations, and food from across the world. This program collaborates with the Global Partner Program. Become an International Peer Mentor >>

GLOBAL CONVERSATION GROUPS

Talk with American students and IPACs about learning and cultures. Improve your group discussion, and presentation skills. We host engaging activities like fashion, sports, the news, food, celebrations, movies and T.V., books, and much more.

Session	Days	Times	Location
General	Tuesdays	5:00 PM – 6:00 PM	LTC Team Space 020
Female Only	Thursdays	5:00 PM – 6:00 PM	LTC Team Space 020

GLOBAL SUCCESS SERIES

The Global Success Series is designed for all international and American students to help them be successful in the UD global learning community. International Peer Academic Coaches (IPACs) will facilitate one-on-one sessions, small group sessions, and large group sessions. Guest speakers from the UD community will be invited. Join us each Thursday 12:30 - 1:30 pm in LTC Team Space 020 (on the Ground Floor of Roesch Library).

Supplemental Instruction

Research suggests that group study is most effective for most learners. If you are enrolled in a class that offers Supplemental Instruction (SI), your class will have an SI Leader—a peer facilitator—who holds two weekly scheduled review sessions outside of class hours for you and other students in your class. Your SI Leader will attend your class every day, so she or he will know exactly what your professor is telling you and asking you to learn. Research also tells us that attending an SI session is roughly the equivalent of studying 2.5 hours alone.

Tutoring

The mission of Office of Learning Resources mission for Tutoring support is to assist students in identifying strategies that enhance learning and academic performance, create an inclusive and accessible atmosphere, utilize a variety of techniques to accommodate varying learning styles, and inspire students to become engaged and empowered learners who are prepared to meet academic and personal challenges. Learn more about our different types of Tutoring below.

WHAT YOU NEED...

1. Textbooks: Tutors have taken your course before, but it may have been with a different professor or more than a semester ago. They need the appropriate resources just like you.
2. Notes: Being able to see how you capture information can help the Tutor to create a plan for you both to explore the topic at hand.
3. Questions: Tutors do not help with or cover homework. Therefore, you need to review your assignments and draft questions for the most challenging areas you are facing.

TUTORING BY APPOINTMENT

Tutoring by Appointment is a free service available for select courses listed below during the fall and spring semesters. Please note that we are unable to guarantee that a tutor can be found for each requested time and approved course. Click here to request a Tutor >>

WALK-IN TUTORING

Free tutoring is available for select entry-level courses in Mathematics, Chemistry, and Physics. If you attend Walk-In Tutoring, you will work individually or in small groups with a Tutor. Our spaces are warm, inviting, and accessible for all learners. When you arrive at Walk-In Tutoring, you will be greeted by one of our friendly Customer Service Assistants who will make sure you get connected with the appropriate Tutor. Bi-lingual Tutors are available on designated evenings. More on Walk-In Tutoring >>

TUTORING HOUSES

Juniors and seniors in the School of Business and School of Engineering adopted Tutoring as their special interest for their housing assignments. Through volunteering and limited members, the Tutor Houses are unable to guarantee availability for each request. To schedule a tutor, click here >>

Students with Disabilities

The two Tutor Houses meet Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS) with spacious layouts and accessible rear entrances for individuals with mobility challenges. Tutoring will always occur on the ground floor in the house's common area.

Student-Athletes

In order to comply to NCAA guidelines, members of the Tutor Houses are available to meet students-athletes in designated learning spaces outside of the residences. If you are a student athlete and would like to schedule a Tutor, please click here >>

DIGITAL DROP OFF

Submitting papers via email is a thing of the past! We recently added the Digital Drop-Off service to Isidore. If you are unable to stop in to the Knowledge Hub for a writing support session, you may submit your paper for review via Isidore.

To Drop Off a Document:

1. Log in to Isidore
2. Select "Write Place" from the left hand menu
3. Follow the instructions to upload your paper for review

Please note that a Write Place consultant will spend 30 minutes on your document, offering comments about organization, content, and mechanics using the revision tool in MS Word. You will receive a notification via email when your paper is ready; a response to your paper can be expected within 48 hours.

Disability Services

The focus of Office of Learning Resources is to provide all students with disabilities an equitable opportunity to participate freely and actively in all areas of university life. Our office has a state-of-the-art assistive technology lab available for select students with disabilities to utilize for studying and testing accommodations. We ask students who wish to make an official request for disability accommodations to contact Office of Learning Resources and set up an appointment with our disability staff.

Testing Accommodations

It is important for students to communicate with their faculty members before submitting their request for alternative testing as many faculty members will provide necessary accommodations for testing. If the student and faculty agree to use the Testing Center, the student is required to complete the online test accommodations request form following established guidelines. Neither faculty nor Office of Learning Resources are required to provide test accommodations outside of the established guidelines.

- Regular exams/quizzes must be scheduled three (3) business days in advance by 8:00 AM of the test day
- Final exams for Spring 2016 must be scheduled by 11:00 AM on Wednesday, April 20, 2016
