Buildings and structures on campus will need to be renovated or designed to provide flexibility so that a variety of activities can take place in the same spaces.

Designs such as Stanford’s d.school provide flexibility to be more integrative, collaborative, inclusive and adaptable.

ArtStreet is a space that provides for options for a variety of experiences for students: learning, living, collaborating, spending time alone, conversations over coffee, enjoying music, etc.

The campus footprint needs to reflect the University’s values: inclusive, collaborative, welcoming and adaptable to the community’s needs that may change over time.