

NOISE & PARTIES

PARTIES? KEEP IT DOWN TO KEEP OUT OF TROUBLE.

Living in community means we should be considerate and conscientious — we need to respect our neighbors. Here's how:

- Limit the number of parties you have.
- Tell your neighbors in advance. Agree to a time for the party to end and stick to it! Don't forget to give your neighbors a number to reach you if it gets too loud — they can call you or the police.
- Keep speakers away from the wall and, hey, turn the bass down.
- Close windows and doors to reduce noise travel.
- Your house? Your responsibility. Keep guests in line — inside and out.

OUR COMMITMENT TO ONE ANOTHER.

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

SELF-AWARENESS AND RESPECT.

Living in community requires self-awareness, communication, cooperation, mutual respect, courage, forgiveness, patience and trust.

And building community is more than friendliness — it's more than following rules. Genuine community requires maturity, commitment, self-sacrifice and hard work.

WHERE DO YOU START?

- Introduce yourself and build a good relationship with your neighbors.
- Be hospitable, welcoming and ask questions.
- Share your contact information.
- Learn to handle conflict with respect, dialogue, understanding and forgiveness.
- Demonstrate dignity and respect in your communications.
- Be considerate to your neighbors. Respect works both ways.

PERSONAL SAFETY

TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR SELF AND COMMUNITY.

Your decisions and actions affect you and the people in your community. We are called to create and promote the common good at UD and beyond.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE COMMON GOOD?

- Exercise self-discipline as an individual and in group situations.
- Speak up when you witness demeaning or damaging behavior.
- Close your windows and lock your doors.
- Keep valuables out of view, especially in ground floor rooms and near windows.
- Make personal security a priority.
- Look out for one another. Stick together at night.

WASTE & RECYCLING

LEARN. LEAD. CONSERVE.

Reducing our consumption of energy requires that we work together. Reducing energy use is good for the environment and brings our actions closer to our values.

HOW CAN YOU BE A STEWARD OF THE EARTH?

- Know your waste and recycle bin collection days.
- Take an interest and pride in where you live.
- Be conscious of consumption.
- Reduce. Reuse. Recycle.
- Use washable plates and silverware.
