

Summary of Isidore's 'Teaching Assistant' Permissions

The following document will explain what a TA can do in your site by default and permissions you can change to increase their abilities. The following document is broken down by each tool that can be added to an Isidore site

General Information

Teaching Assistants cannot even see your course tab until the site has been published.

Home

Teaching Assistants can visit your home page, but they cannot make changes to it. There are not any additional permissions available for TAs.

Site Info

Teaching Assistants can view your contact information and the site description. They cannot view or edit the class roster. If you would like them to be able to create, edit, and delete groups of students, you can add the section info tool to your site (under Site Info-->Page Edit Tools) and assign the Teaching Assistant to a class section. There are not any additional permissions available for TAs in the Site Info tool.

Announcements

Teaching Assistants can see the announcements that you've created. If you would like the Teaching Assistant to be able to create, edit, or delete announcements, you can designate additional permission by clicking on the 'permissions' link in the Announcements tool.

Set chat room options	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Drop Box

Teaching Assistants can only view their own folder in the Drop Box tool. They can upload files to their own folder, and modify and delete files that they have uploaded. There are not any additional permissions available for TAs.

Forums

Teaching Assistants can participate in the discussion forums, just like your students. They can create new threads or reply to existing threads. If you would like to give your TA access to create, edit, or delete forums and topics, or to grade students' discussion posts, you can give them access by clicking on either the 'forum settings' or 'topic settings' links.

▼ Permissions
Role	Permission Level
EvaluationCoordinator	Owner	► Customize
Instructor	Owner	► Customize
Student	Contributor	► Customize
Teaching Assistant	Contributor	► Customize
Team A	None	► Customize

Gradebook

Teaching Assistants can view the gradebook items and students' grades. They also can enter grades for students if the gradebook items have already been created.

Gradebook+

Teaching Assistants can view the gradebook items and students' grades. They also can enter grades for students if the gradebook items have already been created. If you would like to restrict access to your TA by only allowing them to grade specific gradebook categories or sections, you can edit permissions by clicking on the 'Edit' menu and then by selecting 'Grader Permission Settings.' There are not any additional permissions available for TAs.

Permissions

Grading permissions can be specified for each teaching assistant defined in the Site Info tool. By default, a teaching assistant has permission to grade anything within their assigned sections/groups. Adding or modifying these rules overrides the default permission and restricts their capabilities within your specifications below. Delete all rules to revert to the default permission setting.

Leah Bergman can grade All Categories in All Sections

User	Permission	Category	Section	Delete
Leah Bergman	grade	All	All	Delete

Messages

Teaching Assistants can send messages to any of the site participants. They can also create folder to add some organization to their inbox. There are not any additional permissions available for TAs.

Modules

Teaching Assistants can view the modules and content sections as a student would, but they cannot add, edit, or delete modules or content sections. If you would like your TA to be able to modify modules and content sections, please contact the E-Learning Lab so they can adjust these permissions for you.

News Feeds

Teaching Assistants can read any of the news feeds you have subscribed to. If you would like to give your TA access to subscribe to news sites, you can click on the 'permissions' link in the News Feeds tool to give them that access.

Resources

By default, Teaching Assistants cannot even see the Resources tool. If you would like to give your TA access to see Resources and to add, edit, and delete files, please click on the 'Permissions' link in the Resources tool to select the appropriate permissions. You must also turn on the Resources tool for students for the TA to be able to see the Resources tool. To do this, go into the Site Info tool and click on the 'Page Order' link. Click on the light bulb next to Resources so that it is lit. Click on the 'Save' button.
